SAILOR KILLED IN HIGHWAY ACCIDENT

TWO AVIATORS ARE RESCUED IN GREENLAND

Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer Walked Two Weeks After Forced Landing

Now at Camp of Expedition of Scientists From University of Michigan

New York, Sept. 4.—At the base of an ice cap in Greenland two daring adventurers of the air today were resting and thinking of how to return to Rockford, Illinois, as soon as possible. The plane in which Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer had made a perilous non-stop flight of some 1,800 miles from Cochrane, Ontario, after starting from Rockford, Illinois, was 100 miles away, abandoned on ice and perhaps smashed in weather typical of Greenland, "the cradle of storms."

The marvel of radio enabled news of their safety after two weeks of arduous travel to be received in the United States in two minutes. But static, a bane which science has yet to conquer, withheld details of their struggle of 100 miles by the most primitive method of movement in the Arctic when the most modern methods had failed them. HEAVY WIND PREVAILLED

The radio station of the New York Times received the news Monday of the flight from the University of Michigan Greenland Expedition at Mount Evans, could obtain but fragmentary messages Monday. Hassell managed to get word through that the plane was about 100 miles from the camp of the expedition, which rescued the fliers. The plane was undamaged when the fliers started their trek to the camp, but heavy winds soon afterward indicated to Hassell the possibility that the Greater Rockford might be reached.

Indications, however, were that for some days yet the fliers must remain with the scientists at Mount Evans, who virtually live the life of Eskimos in order to study storms and add to the world's knowledge of northern weather.

New York, Sept. 4.—Missing two weeks in the Arctic, Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, United States fliers. (Concluded on page 3.)

Victims at Winnipeg Give Blood For Serum

Winnipeg, Sept. 4.—Enlisted in the fight against the spread of infantile paralysis, which has taken a death toll of eleven in Winnipeg, seventeen recovered victims of disease have given blood for the making of a serum which is expected to overcome the sufferings of many of the young patients in the city.

Three recovered victims who suffered from the disease in 1926 have given blood, while seven traced through various medical records returned from various reasons. ANSWERED

Serum from the blood of recovered victims has proved successful in combating epidemics in other cities and an appeal which was broadcast by a committee of prominent physicians, organized in the name of the Red Cross, last week, has been well responded to by the survivors of the disease here.

There are indications the epidemic has reached its peak, as for three days no deaths have been reported, though there have been numbers of new cases, while several persons, mostly children, are under observation as suspects.

Since the first case was reported on Sept. 21, there have been 100 cases in city, of whom eleven died.

Winnipeg, Sept. 4.—Charles Evans has volunteered to take the place of the Hoover-Curtis ticket. He offers from Europe. The Re-Speakers' Bureau intends to a series of speeches for him, them in New York with wide kudos.

Physicians asserted to-day no anxiety was felt over the Premier's illness, which was developing normally and not dangerously.

Rumor Amundsen Party Fire Seen On Far North Island Is Investigated

Copenhagen, Sept. 4.—The reported sighting by Norwegian sealers of a big bonfire on Edge Island, one of the Spitzbergen group, has raised the question here whether Capt. Roald Amundsen and his five companions might be alive. A float from the plane in which they flew to join in the search for the missing men of the lost North Pole dirigible Italia was brought to Tromsø, Norway, on Saturday, leading to the belief the men had perished.

The sealers, who saw the fire a fortnight ago, were quoted in a dispatch from Tromsø as expressing a belief the fire might be connected with the missing men.

RUMOR AT TROMSØE

Tromsø, Norway, Sept. 4.—A rumor went around here yesterday that Capt. Roald Amundsen and his five companions who disappeared after hopping off in a seaplane here for Spitzbergen had been found.

The rumor seemed to be based on a report that the captain of a sealing vessel had stated he had noticed something like an aeroplane float in the sea where the first float was found by the Brood, a sealing vessel. He did not make it clear he did not consider it important. When he saw the float brought in by the Brood, he said it probably was the object he had seen floating in the water.

The first scheme provides for the building of 100 cottages by the colonization department of the railway, in which British settlers will be established while gaining necessary farm experience and afterwards will be facilitated in settlement on their holdings. The cottages thus vacated will then be available for more British settlers.

The second scheme involves the recruiting, placing on farms and supervising of 1,000 British families during the next five years through the Canadian Colonization Association, a subsidiary of the department of colonization and development of the railway.

B.C. Attorney-General Wants
Information on Investigation

No Secrecy Necessary, Says
Ottawa Dispatch From Defence Department

With the investigation into the recent Victoria aeroplane tragedy, in which seven persons lost their lives, closed Saturday before any reply could be received to protests from the British Columbia Attorney-General over his representative with a watching brief being excluded, Hon. R. H. Pooley said to-day that he would request from the Department of Defence at Ottawa a complete copy of the report and findings presented by the court. As the investigation is closed Mr. Pooley remarked that there was no other action he could take until he had received a reply other than the brief acknowledgement of receipt he received Saturday, to his wife of protest.

Control of aviation is still a subject to be decided by the Supreme Court of Canada through a case brought by the Province of Quebec to decide the extent of Federal and Provincial jurisdiction of passenger services. British Columbia will not be presented at the hearing as this is not considered necessary, the decision binding on all provinces applicable to all other provinces.

In view of the exclusion of the counsel and press considerable surprise is created by a wife from Ottawa which reports that no exception was taken to the exclusion of either.

"I cannot understand I made a most emphatic protest at being excluded," said W. C. Moreby who attended with a watching brief for the Attorney General's Department.

Attorney-General Pooley is equally pleased that the wife was read to him. The dispatch is particularly amazing in view of the fact that it was the first action of the court on entering the board room to exclude press, public and counsel and a direct question to Mr. Pooley.

Commander Gordon, chairman of the board, on the exclusion of the press met with a direct answer. (Concluded on page 3.)

MEIGHEN ARRIVES
EXUDING OPTIMISM

Former Canadian Premier,
and Conservative Leader,
Pays Surprise Visit

Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Prime Minister of Canada, arrived in Victoria yesterday, went to the Empress Hotel and registered and no one recognized him.

The reason was not that Mr. Meighen has no friends, but that the Mr. Meighen who arrived here yesterday and was strolling undisturbed through the lobbies of the Empress Hotel to-day did not look like the Mr. Meighen who came here and spoke before the last general election in Canada.

The reason was not that Mr. Meighen is thin and wiry. The Mr. Meighen of to-day is a stout, jovial and optimistic individual, who has left his military uniform, many years ago, retiring from the leadership of the Conservative party. Mr. Meighen physically has gone from the one extreme to the other. In a year and a half he has put on weight by scores of pounds.

Mr. Meighen physically has gone from the one extreme to the other. In a year and a half he has put on weight by scores of pounds.

He is head of the Canadian General Securities Limited, of Toronto, which has transacational connections.

Although Mr. Meighen is too busy to talk politics, Mr. Meighen is spending some time here, hobnobbing with one of his old political cabinet associates, Premier Tolmie.

New CHRYSLER '65 and '75 ...a glorious escape from Obsolete Fashions

After nearly four years of imitation and emulation Chrysler now brings to the price groups of the new "65" and "75" a lavishness of beauty which was never there before.

The style of yesterday, still living in many new cars, is rendered obsolete because it is succeeded today by Chrysler cars so completely new in design that they establish new measures of beauty and style.

New slender-profile chromium-plated radiator, arched-window silhouette, the grace and sweep of its "air-wing" fenders, the luxury of fitting and appointment single these new Chryslers instantly as the new style that re-styles all motor cars.

Surely the mere evidence of the eye—because performance is assuredly the very name of Chrysler—proves at once that both the new "65" and the "75" have been lifted up to an intrinsic value which hundreds of dollars—yes, even a thousand—more than their selling price could not have secured before.

No Golfers Score Par in Qualifying Round For California Amateur Title

Del Monte, Cal., Sept. 4.—None of the hundreds of expert mashie wielders turned out within two strokes of par at Pebble Beach yesterday in the first eighteen holes of qualification for the California amateur golf championship.

W. S. "Willie" Jelliffe, of Santa Monica, was the only one to get even close to his score being 37 out and 37 in for a 74, two over par.

Charles D. "Chuck" Hunter, rangy Tacoma youth, after being even with par most of the way around, one under at the fourteenth, took a fatal 7 on the eighteenth and lost the lead, finishing with a 75. Jack Gaines, Los Angeles city champion, also scored a 75, as did V. Hay, of Santa Barbara. H. A. "Polly" Willard and Dr. John Wolf, both of San Francisco, took 76s.

EXPERTS SURPRISED

Many of California's foremost players turned in cards so high that they predicted even the experts who had predicted that the field would find the Pebble Beach layout from five to eight strokes harder than it was last year. In 1927, George von Elm led at the end of the first qualifying round with 75.

As a result, Pebble Beach is now

COMING The LEE JAXON PLAYERS

A rare sight for the crew of the U.S.S. Pittsburgh was this, and a narrow escape for them, too. For the phenomenon caught by the camera's eye is a waterspout, or sea-cyclone, that passed within 500 yards of the ship when she lay at the mouth of the Yangtze-Kiang River in China recently. The twister, speeding along the sea, was of such force that it drew a stream of water through its vortex. Had it reached the ship serious damage would have resulted.

universally acclaimed a championship course stiff enough to test even Bobby Jones at his best in next year's national amateur championship. It is predicted that an average of two 85's or possibly two 84's will assure entrance into the championship flight.

Johnny McHugh of San Francisco, defending titlist, came in ten over par. Dr. Paul Hunter, of Pasadena, was putting terribly and ended seven over par. Walter Foyberg, a local star, shot a 91. Jelliffe, seeking into the secret of the state championship for the first time, has only been playing three years. Twenty years ago he caddied in Connecticut. As a boy he was a southpaw but when he resumed to play three years ago, he switched to a right-hand swing and quickly reduced his handicap from 24 to 1 at the Girard club.

Max Marsten scored a 68, while the other scores were:

Roland Mackenzie, 71; Jess Sweetser, 72; D. Clark Corkran, 72; Harrison Johnston and Richard A. Jones, 72; Wattie Gun, Francis Oulman and Jess Guitton, 73; Eddie Driggs, 75; Maurice McCarthy, 76; Eddie Driggs, 77; John Anderson and Tommy Taller Jr., both seventy-eight.

VON ELM'S 65 SETS NEW MARK

Newport, R.I., Sept. 4—George von Elm set a new course record here yesterday in the opening play of the Gold Mashie tournament on T. Safford Taller's private golf course, Ocean Links. Von Elm equalled the course record for nine holes with a 32, and broke the record for eighteen holes with a 65.

Because of the rain there was no play yesterday morning, and only eighteen holes were played in the afternoon. The tournament is seventy-two holes, medal play, and only the first two holes medal play, and only the last two holes will be played to-day and eighteen Wednesday morning.

Max Marsten scored a 68, while the other scores were:

Roland Mackenzie, 71; Jess Sweetser, 72; D. Clark Corkran, 72; Harrison Johnston and Richard A. Jones, 72; Wattie Gun, Francis Oulman and Jess Guitton, 73; Eddie Driggs, 75; Maurice McCarthy, 76; Eddie Driggs, 77; John Anderson and Tommy Taller Jr., both seventy-eight.

Paris, Sept. 4—Gene Tunney was the world's boxing heavyweight champion for a half hour and yesterday, so far as the Parisians were concerned, so far as the Parisians were concerned.

A goodly small percentage of which were newspapermen and photographers, met him at his arrival from London on the Golden Arrow Express at North Station last evening and received him like a conquering hero.

Frenchmen, and Americans, crowded and besieged him in their enthusiasm, while the photographers' flashlights boomed and reporters shot questions at him.

It was in the course of these questions—translated to him—that he forgot his smiles and became a very belligerent young man. One of the newspapermen asked him about his marriage.

GOT REAL MAD

"This is a matter in which the public or yourself is not interested. I am a private citizen and desire to live quietly as such." Tunney never looked so much like a fighter as when he delivered his ultimatum. The Frenchmen were impressed.

"Have you quit the ring for good?" he was asked.

"For good or bad, I am absolutely through with boxing," Tunney replied.

A reporter asked in French: "Is Mr. Tunney going to do moving picture work?"

The retired champion, without waiting for a translation, moved on.

were safe to-day at Mount Evans, Greenland, the second stop on their projected flight from Rockford, Illinois, to Stockholm, Sweden.

While the world was becoming convinced they had suffered the fate of other aviators who perished during attempts to fly across the Atlantic, they were making their way over a fifty-miles stretch of icy Greenland wastes, to the New York Times by way of its radio station in a dispatch from Professor W. H. E. Hobbs, leader of the University of Michigan Greenland expedition.

Members of the expedition, which has a base at Mount Evans, brought the airmen to safety last Sunday after picking them up on the icy waste, a short distance from the base.

The fliers were uninjured. Although hungry, having lived off rations of eight ounces of pemican a day, they stated to be in excellent condition.

GASOLINE EXHAUSTED

Shortage of gasoline forced the two men's plane down on the ice arm of Point Sukkertoppen on August 19.

Point Sukkertoppen is a headland on the southwest coast of Greenland about fifty miles southeast of Mount Evans at the base of which the Hobbs expedition had prepared a landing field for the airmen.

The plane was not damaged. For two weeks the airmen traveled over the ice and snow, through wild and unexplored country, hoping to reach safety.

A smoke signal they sent up brought members of the Hobbs expedition to the scene, where they wandered over the wastes. They were taken across a fjord to Camp Lloyd, three miles from the radio station at Mount Evans.

Apparently Hassell and Cramer had been forced off their course by adverse weather when they attempted to fly from Cochrane, Ontario, to Mount Evans, a distance of 1,600 miles on the second leg of their flight.

Hopping off from Cochrane in their monoplane, the Greater Rockford at 12.12 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, on August 18, the airmen were sighted over Fiskeneset, about 200 miles south of Point Sukkertoppen, at 10.30 on the next morning.

WEATHER FORECASTING

The expedition, led by Professor Hobbs, is engaged in experimental work by which it is hoped to establish a system for forecasting Atlantic weather by measuring the force and direction of gales which blow from the Arctic. Hassell carried instruments for meteorological observation and was to have worked with the Hobbs expedition.

ROCKFORD CELEBRATES

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 4.—Rockford went wild with joy when word of the safety of Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, pilots of the aeroplane Greater Rockford, which disappeared on a flight to Stockholm, Sweden, reached the city. A spontaneous celebration took form on the streets as throngs rushed downtown for the latest word concerning the two fliers, whom they had believed lost.

First word of the safety of the two men came yesterday Sunday night, over the radio by citizens of Rockford.

Factory whistles were sounded and a continuous din kept up as cheers of the celebrants mingled with the shriek of whistles.

William J. Green
Dies at Kaslo

Kaslo, B.C., Sept. 4.—Stricken with paralysis Saturday night, after an active day in his garden, Mr. William J. Green, 52, a carpenter and a brother of Senator F. F. Green, died in the hospital here Sunday. He was first in British Columbia in 1882, and in 1885 made the trip from Donald to Revelstoke by way of the Big Bend. After a short time in his home in Peterboro, Ontario, he returned in 1896, settling in Kaslo, where he had resided ever since, being for many years deputy mining recorder.

POOLEY TO CALL FOR REPORT OF PLANE INQUIRY

The dispatch from Ottawa reads: Ottawa, Sept. 4.—Following the receipt of protest from Attorney-General Pooley of British Columbia that counsel for the Attorney-General had been excluded from the sittings of the Federal Board investigating the Victoria-Seattle plane disaster, that board has advised the Department of National Defence that no objection to the presence of the Attorney-General in the proceedings of the press had been taken. This was stated at the department today. As a general rule, it was pointed out, counsel are not present at such inquiries as they are not in the nature of trials. On the other hand, there is no objection to counsel attending to watch such proceedings.

DIVER GOES DOWN

Port Townsend, Wash., Sept. 4.—Sometime to-day a well-determined diver, whether or not the object located in the water here is the missing monoplane that carried seven persons to their death more than a week ago, it was bound from Victoria to Seattle.

This seemed assured when the United States coast guard, Captain J. L. S. Clegg, lowered their submerged boat closer to shore and finally held it in fifty feet of water. A diver is expected by noon to-day from Victoria and it is believed he will have no dif-

Watson Wins City Golf Title

Newcomer Crowned King When He Beats G. Terry In Finals

Wins Championship by Margin of 4 and 2 in 36-hole Match, in Which He Was Always Up; Saw Seven-hole Advantage Wilt Away in Afternoon Round

Until He Was Only Two Up, But He Came Back Strongly to Snuff Out Effort of Young Star; Watson Eliminates Bob Morrison and Norman Wallace, Two Club Champions

It is very seldom that a comparatively unknown golfer steps in among the elite and treats them to a rare exhibition, but this happened in the annual city championship held Saturday, Sunday and Monday at the Colwood Golf Club. The dark horse on this occasion was Alexander Watson, who only recently arrived in Victoria to assist the Royal Bank in handling its affairs. In the thirty-six-hole finals yesterday Watson defeated Goldwyn Terry, one of the young stars of the Colwood Club, four up and two to play. He takes the championship to the Victoria Golf Club, of which he recently became a member.

Watson entered the qualifying round ten days ago and finished thirteenth with a score of 168, sixteen strokes behind the medalist, "Jock" Findlay, 3 and 2, and in the afternoon he came out to win by 4 and 2.

AROUSES ATTENTION

It was on Sunday that he aroused a great deal of attention. He eliminated two club champions during the day. His first victim was Bob Morrison, the Uplands champion and medalist of the tournament. The match was decided on the eighteenth green, when Watson was one up.

In the afternoon in the semi-finals Watson faced Norman Wallace, titleholder at the Macaulay Point Golf Club and one of the youngest players in the tournament. Watson won by 5 and 4.

This brought him into the finals against Terry, who played a remarkably fine game all the way through. Terry beat Watson 4 up in the round 2 and 1, and W. P. Ferguson 4 and 2 in the second round. His third round victim was Eric Burton by 5 and 4, while in the semi-finals he gave the defending champion, Jack Mazon, a thorough drubbing by 7 and 5. The final play of Terry in his match with Watson showed that he was determined to lift the championship and he was favorite to lift the crown.

HIS SCOTCH WAY

Watson, however, went into the finals in his calm, Scottish way, and after halving the first hole he proceeded to win the second, and from that point on was always in the lead.

When Watson won many questions were asked as to who he was and where he had come from, but few seemed to have the inside on him. He was a Scot, Eric Watson, and he had his beginning in Scotland, as his speech revealed this. Watson learned the secrets of golf in Scotland and came to Canada when quite young. He was in Ontario for a time and played in the Canadian amateur championship, reaching the "eights" on one occasion, after he had come to Canada and then won the Grove West golf championship five times. Recently he was transferred to Victoria and he has demonstrated by his club, but principally through his putting, that he must be reckoned with in any future tournaments held in the part of the country.

AWAY TO EARLY LEAD

Watson was four up on Terry at the end of the first nine yesterday, having shot a 36, two over par. He came home in 37, two over par, which gave him a score of 72, one under par, which he finished five up on Terry.

In the afternoon Watson continued to lengthen his lead and was seven up at the twenty-first hole. He held this advantage by halving three holes. Then came Terry's grand bid for the championship. He won the first hole and halved two of them, seven holes and halved two of them, to reach the thirty-first hole two down and he had a chance to still further reduce the margin. After Watson had gone over the green Terry followed him with his second. Watson was down in four, while Terry required two putts and lost the hole. The ball then hit the green and went into the fire with a rail, which won him two holes. Terry shot a par three at the thirty-third and won, but when Watson had a four at the next hole to Terry's five the match ended.

The scores of the morning round were as follows:

Out—
Watson 5 4 4 3 5 4 3 4 36
Terry... 5 5 6 3 6 3 4 4 41
In—

CLOSE SHOOTING IS THE FEATURE OF ANNUAL MEET

Crack Shots From Northwest Attend Trapshooting Tournament at Colwood

Victoria Beat Washington in Team Shoot; L. Horth, Victoria, Wins Honors

Close shooting in all events featured the annual championship trapshooting tournament held yesterday at the Colwood Race Track under the auspices of the Victoria Gun Club. Crack shots from Vancouver, Seattle, Portland, Port Angeles and other cities competed for the hand-some trophies donated by local merchants and citizens.

Shooting opened at 9 o'clock in the morning and continued until the miss and out at 4:30 o'clock.

The main event of the day in which the championship of the northwest was at stake was the team shoot between the Victoria team and the team from the State of Washington. Washington suffered defeat, coming out with a score of 107 against 110 for Victoria.

Members of the Washington team were J. L. Coffey, N. C. Jannsen, Dr. C. B. Claunch, P. Brackett and R. Long, while the local team was composed of L. Horth, M. Lohbrunner, D. McGray, H. Hasenfratz and E. Hasenfratz. The Victoria team won the silver cup donated by Hawkins & Haynes Ltd. for this event.

VICTORY FOR HORTH

The premier honors of the day fell to Lowe Horth, a member of the Victoria Club. He came from the start with a superb shot and walked away with the Peden Perpetual Challenge Cup for the highest average during the season for club members. This is the third time that he has won this trophy which now becomes his property. For the second year in succession he took the Colonist Perpetual Challenge Trophy for the same thing. He also won the gun down event, the prize being a handsome hunting coat donated by E. G. Prior & Co., and the main and out event, winning 100 shells donated by the Victoria Gun Club.

Horth yesterday trembled on the veranda of second place, leading the Pittsburgh flush by only .380 to .379, after having had an average of .423 at one point of the campaign.

Babe Ruth got two hits in six attempts at No. 9 York, remaining silent in the silver cup.

Dr. C. B. Claunch, secretary of the club, "P. S." Sylvester, president of the club, and W. H. Horth, his partner, in succession hit the target for the Colonist Perpetual Challenge Trophy for the same thing. He also won the gun down event, the prize being a handsome hunting coat donated by E. G. Prior & Co., and the main and out event, winning 100 shells donated by the Victoria Gun Club.

Horth, yesterday, was the best of the day.

Watson, however, went into the finals in his calm, Scottish way, and after halving the first hole he proceeded to win the second, and from that point on was always in the lead.

When Watson won many questions were asked as to who he was and where he had come from, but few seemed to have the inside on him. He was in Ontario for a time and played in the Canadian amateur championship, reaching the "eights" on one occasion, after he had come to Canada and then won the Grove West golf championship five times. Recently he was transferred to Victoria and he has demonstrated by his club, but principally through his putting, that he must be reckoned with in any future tournaments held in the part of the country.

AWAY TO EARLY LEAD

Watson was four up on Terry at the end of the first nine yesterday, having shot a 36, two over par. He came home in 37, two over par, which gave him a score of 72, one under par, which he finished five up on Terry.

In the afternoon Watson continued to lengthen his lead and was seven up at the twenty-first hole. He held this advantage by halving three holes. Then came Terry's grand bid for the championship. He won the first hole and halved two of them, seven holes and halved two of them, to reach the thirty-first hole two down and he had a chance to still further reduce the margin. After Watson had gone over the green Terry followed him with his second. Watson was down in four, while Terry required two putts and lost the hole. The ball then hit the green and went into the fire with a rail, which won him two holes. Terry shot a par three at the thirty-third and won, but when Watson had a four at the next hole to Terry's five the match ended.

The scores of the morning round were as follows:

Out—
Watson 5 4 4 3 5 4 3 4 36
Terry... 5 5 6 3 6 3 4 41

Labor Day Helps Only Yankees

St. Louis Cards And Athletics Lose Two Important Battles

Yankees Increase Lead to Two and One-half Games Over Connie Mack's Team, While Giants Jump to Second Place in National League; Pittsburgh Take Two More Games and Cincinnati Bump Off Cardinals in Double-header

The annual flock of Labor Day doubleheaders have been written into the records, to the satisfaction of Miller Huggins but to the unmitigated chagrin of Bill McKechnie and Connie Mack.

Huggins and the New York Yankees got only an even break with the Boston Red Sox yesterday, but added a game to their lead when Connie's Athletics slipped a couple of cogs at Washington and went down twice before the Senators.

The figures to-day show the Yanks two and one-half games ahead of the Athletics in the American League, while the Cardinals' advantage in the National remained unchanged at four and one-half games.

BALL AS CONTENDERS

The important effect of Labor Day results in the National League was that the New York Giants, Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Reds were reinstated as pennant contenders, while twenty-four hours earlier it appeared as if all three had been eliminated.

The Cardinals were the Reds a terrific battle in the first game before they went down 6 to 5 in eleven innings, but were overcome in the night cap, 6 to 3.

Twenty-nine players saw service in the opener, which saw the Reds tie the score in the ninth and win the eleventh, each time on hits by Pudgy.

The Giants moved past the Chicago Cubs into second place by knocking over the Phillies 4 to 3 and 9 to 3.

PIRATES SAYAGE

In a savage batting mood, the Pirates crushed the Cubs in the morning game 16 to 5 and when players steady bat belted in the afternoon game, the pitchers to win the second 6 to 3.

The Brooklyn Dodgers were rained out of their twin bill with the Boston Braves.

It took some tall stepping by the Yanks to get as good as an even break against the Red Sox. Huggins' some what tampered maulers just barely earned the decision in the opener 8 to 7, then going down before the Boston's Morris in the second 4 to 2. The second game was a pitchers' battle between Henry Johnson and Jack Russell, with the Red Sox pitcher earning the edge, although he was driven out of the box in the ninth inning. In this game the Yankees ruined two hits of the pitcher but was stopped by Morris, who relieved Russell. Lou Gehrig hit his twenty-third homer of the year in the first inning of the first game.

ATHLETICS OUTPLAYED

The Browns outplayed the Athletics to win both games at Washington 6 to 1 and 5 to 4. Hadley held the A's to six hits and fanned eighteen in the opener.

The Chicago White Sox vaulted from seventh to fifth place when they defeated Detroit 5 to 2 and 6 to 4, while the St. Louis Browns were Cleveland in the second of the double-header at St. Louis.

The Browns made full use of their eight hits to win the opener 5 to 3, but the second game developed into a slugfest that beat Dan Howley's men by the football score of 16 to 10.

Oriental Penetration is Problem Facing Government

The Oriental problem from many angles will force itself before the new British Columbia Government within the next few months and provide the subject of much discussion at the next session of the B. C. Legislative Legislature. It is forecast by reports on the matter to come under consideration.

Following the recent instructions of the Executive Council from the Fraser Valley Milk Inquiry to proceed, representatives have been made a permanent committee of Oriental penetration of the Province. It has been argued before a board of inquiry that by reducing the number of Oriental farmers the surplus of milk in the Fraser Valley could be lessened. The increasing number of Orientals who have concentrated their energies on marketable agriculture has driven the white man from that activity to dairy farming. The increase in dairy products in the last ten years, it is claimed, is due to the influence of severe competition from Orientals in vegetable farming.

MOST people know this absolute antidote for pain, but are you sure to say Bayer will you buy it? And do you always give a glance to see Bayer on the box—and the word genuine printed in red? It isn't the genuine Aspirin without it! A drug-store always has Bayer, with the proven directions tucked in every box:

Colwood

A delightful social gathering took place Thursday afternoon in Colwood Hall when the Misses Kelly entertained members of the Colwood Women's Institute. The president of the institute, Miss Kelly, took the opportunity of expressing her appreciation of the work of the W. I. in putting the Colwood exhibit at the Willow Fair such an outstanding success, and thereby winning the Savory Cup outright. Miss Kelly mentioned the keen competition this year, and commented on the fine display by the other two institutions exhibiting.

Delicious afternoon tea was served. The artistically arranged tea tables were provided by Mrs. A. S. Burgess and Miss Helen Kelly, who were assisted in serving by the Misses Adrienne Murray and Margaret Peatt.

A number of visitors were present, including: The Rev. H. B. Allen, Mrs. H. B. Allen and Miss Allen (Colwood), Mrs. Colin Matheson, the Misses Ross and Virginia Matheson (Seattle), and Mrs. F. Bayliss of Sorrento.

After tea the various presentations were made to the four members responsible for the arranging of the exhibit. Madames A. S. Burgess, E. Shields and J. Goodacre received silver cheese knives while to Mrs. C. Goodall, the general convenor, a silver vase was presented.

Mrs. A. Peatt is entertaining Mrs. Colin Matheson and the Misses Ross and Virginia Matheson of Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Bayliss and small son of Sorrento are visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. Godfrey, Island Highway.

Morning service was held at St. John's Church at 11 a.m. yesterday.

Built With SUPERTWIST

ONE of the reasons we specialize on Good-year Tires is because they are built with SUPERTWIST Cords.

No matter how good the tread of a tire—no matter how skilful the building—if the cord breaks down, the tire goes.

And in Good-year Tires alone do you find SUPERTWIST Cords, which stretch 61% more than ordinary cords, recover from road shocks, give longer life.

Goodyear Tires are low in price. Ask us for a price on your size.

40 YEARS OLD: What a shout of unfeigned joy and relief went up from the people of this Province, yea, of all the World, on that memorable 11th of NOVEMBER, 1918. The Boys were coming back: true, not as many as went, for our B. C. Boys took their places in the front lines and "died that we might live." But the War was over, and the work of PEACE times called loudly for the "doffing" of Khaki and the "donning" of Overalls. The business life of the Province had suffered many ups and downs, but the dauntless spirit of Canada's most Western Division had learned from War the motto "Carry On."

Nothing can now stop the forward march of Pacific Coast Development.

GREAT B & K DEVELOPMENTS: New B & K Feed Mills—new and improved machinery—new trade conn ections and many other New Branches opened—all these swung into their places and the Company then 40 years old proved its solid foundation, its strength and service to the Public who had come to demand B & K Products because of their goodness and reliability.

You must have used B & K Extra Cream Rolled Oats or B & K Wheat Flakes—if not there's a treat in store for you.

And long ago the Poultrymen and Stockmen had ceased to experiment and then as now, continue to feed their Poultry and Stock with the carefully prepared and guaranteed B & K Feed Products.

Field Trials of Hunting Dogs Make Pretty Sight

(Contributed)

Twenty years at least have passed since the joy of seeing good hunting dogs in the field has been mine. The fields then roamed were miles of stubbly and the woods made adjacent thereto where prairie bluffs banked with cherry, hazel, saskatoon and willow, afforded shelter for hardy and prolific families of prairie chickens—designated grouse in British Columbia.

On those golden September mornings when every small breeze brought a shower of leaves yellowed by the first frost, shot and old livered stubbly and the woods made adjacent thereto where prairie bluffs banked with cherry, hazel, saskatoon and willow, afforded shelter for hardy and prolific families of prairie chickens—designated grouse in British Columbia.

Lifted heads, lashing tails, wriggling bodies, eager feet—all proclaimed joyful anticipation, and we imagined faintly triumphant, directed toward the sorrowing quartette condemned to the yard?—Sandy, slender greyhound, most ornamental of the canine population; Rover, ancient and grizzled, guardian of the pens and driver of the pack; and two wolfhound pups, Banter and Raver, newly acquired property of the youngest son of the house, and the lively equivalent of an unmanageable violin, added for the purpose of exchange and ready to one shot-gun in an instant need of service.

On the instant, and drove. Shot and Rufus quivering at the feet of their lords, conserving power for the great moments to come when the universe centred in one little bird crouching in the grass or surprised in the stubble.

A screech, a loss, a run head up through tall, teasing grass, then nose to work again, and a look behind from Shot's practiced eye to see if range is reasonable in case of a find, holding for a minute, then a sharp "tch" to allow for a few yards gain, then on to break keen on the track of a feeding bird picking tasty morsels at will. Now it's "Steady"—and who could ask for a prettier sight?

Right foot up; nose to tail-tip, one straight clean line eyes fixed on prey by right of generations of predation. Shot to do his bit in my memory, though his beautiful body is long since dust.

Across the field Rufus, his chief in the offing, is staring in a similar drama on a stubby stage. Though time has given me sympathy with the loser in the game of life and a questioning mind as to the exact role of the Rufus in the play that still goes on, there is no doubt as to my attitude in the old days. That Rufus—a boy, a dog, a bird, had to be rewarded as heroes deserve with shelter, sympathy and loving attention to bodily needs till the sad day final reward was secured in a heaven poor humans cannot share.

On Saturday the gun dogs of Victoria take the field in the annual trials. Many carefully bred generations stand between the dogs and the old-stagers, and Rufus, a sturdy red setter of two autumns, alert to every movement of his master's body and every shade of feeling in his master's voice.

Eczema Formed Painful Blisters Cuticura Healed

"Eczema started with a fine rash on my arms. Later it formed blisters the size of a bean which were full of water and very painful. It burned and was so sore I could not bear to touch it. The weight of a cup in my hand would fairly make me cry out with pain. I had my hands and arms tied up from the ends of my fingers to my shoulders. Sometimes it kept me awake for hours."

"A friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I sent for a free sample. I purchased more, and in about three weeks I was healed." (Signed) Miss Emily B. Davis, R. R. 3, Northwood, Ont.

PERCY WILLIAMS PRESENTED WITH HAMILTON KEY

Canada's Athletic Hero
Showered With Presents on Trip Westward
Great Crowds Acclaim Him in All Sections; Credit to Trainer

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 4.—Percy Williams of Vancouver, Olympic champion sprinter, with other members of the Canadian track and field team, received an enthusiastic reception in Hamilton yesterday.

Met outside the city by a welcoming delegation in motor cars, a parade was organized and proceeded to Dundurn Park, where a civic welcome was extended.

Williams and his mother were loudly acclaimed by the crowd of thousands. After the reception, many visited and reposed in Hamilton for a banquet tendered by the C. T. C.

At the banquet, Controller John Peebles, representing Mayor Burton, presented to Mrs. Williams and the members of the girls' relay team bouquets of roses. To Percy Williams went the key to Hamilton's golden shield, with the Hamilton coat-of-arms on one side and Williams's name on the other.

On behalf of the Olympic Club Percy was presented by Bobby Kerr with a silver tea service. Other members of the team were presented with silver medals.

GOOD GENTLEMAN

P. J. Mulqueen, chairman of the Olympic team in referring to Williams stated that the Vancouver youth was not only the world's greatest runner, but one of its greatest gentlemen.

Capt. Cornelius in his remarks gave all the credit for Williams's wonderful showing to Bob Granger. Williams' trainer, who paid him a visit to America, turned to Williams when the final test came.

"It was Granger and Percy Williams's mother that made him what he is to-day," said the captain.

WILL ENFORCE MARKETING ACT

As Long as it is B.C. Statute,
Says Hon. R. H. Pooley

The Produce Marketing Act is one of the statutes of British Columbia. So long as it is in force, it will be enforced to the limit of our ability," Attorney-General Pooley declared in explaining the action of provincial police in halting the shipment of fruit by interior大酒店 who held no shippers' licenses from the interior committee of direction.

Pooley said he had instructed police to halt fruit shipments not covered by license after he had been warned of this movement by F. M. Black, chairman of the direction committee.

The regulations of the committee under the Marketing Act will stand as long as any other statute, Mr. Pooley added.

Meanwhile Premier Tolmie is continuing his investigation into the fruit marketing situation which threatens serious losses to the fruit growers of the Okanagan Valley. Before taking any action on this problem and on the related dumping of United States fruit in prairie markets, the Premier wants to know all the facts accurately. He is collecting data from Government officials and the fruit industry now.

It's really marvelous how quickly those who try it take on flesh where flesh is most needed.

These aspirations are expressed in different ways, but chiefly, perhaps, through poetry and other forms of literature. It is felt that it is impossible, after observing the international life at Geneva, to deny the similarity of the human mind. To illustrate this he cited a diplomatic duel engaged in by Count Apponyi of Hungary and the Prince of Roumania; the former, a man in clay, is essentially true, and that God is the potter and education His instrument. Mr. Eastman said.

UNITED CHURCH LOSES LEADER

Rev. Dr. C. E. Manning, Home Missions Secretary, Dies in Vancouver

Vancouver, Sept. 4.—Rev. C. E. Manning, D.D., late of Toronto, general secretary for home missions of the United Church of Canada, died in hospital here yesterday. He was born in Ontario, 77 years ago.

Dr. Manning came to Vancouver from Toronto early in May to attend the sessions of the British Columbia Conference of the United Church. During the conference he suffered an attack of appendicitis and was removed to a hospital. He recovered somewhat, and after being joined by Mrs. Manning and two daughters, he took up residence here in the hope of regaining his health. The attack, however, had left him weak, and he suffered a relapse which resulted in his death yesterday.

He is survived by a widow, three daughters, one son and two brothers, both retired Methodist ministers.

The body was shipped from here this morning for Toronto, where burial will take place.

Charles Edward Manning was born December 17, 1860, in Simcoe County, Ontario. At the age of twenty-one he was ordained on trial as a minister in the Methodist Church. He served his probation on the Cookstown, Ontario, circuit and worked for upwards of twenty years as an active pastor.

In 1897 Mr. Manning received the appointment of Assistant Field Secretary in the Home Department of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Church. He served his church in that capacity through the following years, until 1918, when upon the death of Rev. Dr. James Allen he succeeded Dr. Allen as general secretary.

Union Work

Dr. Manning continued in that position until the union of the churches, and for the last three years had been joint secretary with Dr. J. H. Edmunds, who had previously held a similar appointment with the Presbyterian Church of Canada, of the Home Mission Board of the United Church of Canada.

Mr. Manning was given the degree of Doctor of Divinity by the Manitoba Theological University.

Dr. Manning was married in 1888 to Miss Leahy of Toronto Township, Peel County, Ontario. They had four children.

TOC H GROUP MEETS TO-NIGHT

This (Tuesday) evening the Victoria Group of Toch will resume regular meetings. Rooms have been leased on the top floor of the Board of Trade Building, 521 Bastion Street, and have been recently put in good shape by expert decorators who are members of the group. Necessary furniture will be provided by each member bringing his own chair or packing-box to sit on. Coffee cups will be provided in the same way.

This will be an important meeting and the presence of every member is requested. Regular attendance is one of the essential qualifications for full membership. The group is in first-class working trim and there will be plenty to do this year. Three probationers will be recommended for full membership and one warned for inattention at the following meetings. The group, according to Toch practice, has been slow about electing full members or seeking new material, but now that organization is full and complete, new applicants will be very welcome.

The King of Spain Visits Chamberlain Aboard His Ship

Santander, Spain, Sept. 4.—Sir

Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, was unable to visit the Spanish Royal Family on Sunday by reason of his illness, so King Alfonso and the Marquis of Bendaña went to see him.

King Alfonso, learning Sir Austen would be in the harbor aboard the steamer Orcania, invited him to spend the day with him. Sir Austen regretfully declined, assigning a "doctor's dictatorial power" as a reason.

When King Alfonso reached the side of the British statesman, Sir Austen rose with the utmost difficulty, but with the aid of his stick, he was soon lying. The King immediately urged him to be seated. They conversed for several minutes.

In the meantime, Sir Austen's family had availed themselves of the royal invitation and were in the ship. They were on the deck just as King Alfonso was leaving. He insisted they walk up the gangplank first while he awaited them on the promenade deck.

ONLY 19 BRITISH MINERS RETURN

Rest of 8,000 Satisfied in Harvest Works, Says
Lord Lovat

Edmonton, Alta., Sept. 4.—Lord Lovat, British Parliamentary Under Secretary for the Dominions and chairman of the British Overseas Settlement Committee, is on his way to the Peace River country to-night following a week-end in Edmonton.

"If our newspapers would give a little more space to chronicling the fact that the great majority of British miners coming to Canada for harvest work are well pleased with their jobs, wages and the treatment they have received, and less to the few cases of dissatisfaction, the world would get a better perspective of the whole movement," said Lord Lovat during his speech in Edmonton.

"There were some 8,000 harvesters passed through Winnipeg," he said, "and of these, I am told, that nineteen went back, yet the press devoted any amount of space to the nineteen who returned and nothing to any others but the army of men who have since been distributed all over the West."

WORLD LEAGUE DEBATES LIQUOR

Assembly Asks Committee to Look Into Proposal Investigation Be Held

Geneva, Sept. 4.—The liquor question was thrust into the opening of the Ninth Assembly of the League of Nations and in the discussion followed, created a flurry of dissension between delegates from the wine-producing countries of southern Europe and the Nordic lands of Finland and Sweden.

The League was asked to take the first step with a proposal by Finland, Sweden and Poland that the League undertake an investigation aimed at checking the abuse of alcohol. The veteran Hungarian statesman, Count Albert Apponyi, immediately moved that the proposal be sent to the assembly committee on social and moral problems.

His hope was that thereby he would have alcoholism attacked as a social evil, whereas if left to the committee on technical questions it would be treated merely from the standpoint of producers and traders.

BOTH SIDES HEARD

A general debate followed in which the lines between the dry countries and their neighbors were made perfectly plain. Most prominent among the anti-liquor advocates was H. J. Procopio, Foreign Minister of Finland and president of the League Council, who told the Assembly Finland was striving for an international convention on the subject as a means of fighting smuggling and cross-border trafficking.

The plea of a delegation of Swedish women, which recently visited Geneva and told League officials that its members wanted to obtain prohibition of strong alcoholic drinks in Sweden, also entered the debate.

The Assembly's action was in the nature of a compromise, the resolution being that the committee on social questions' committee, with instructions that it should always consult the social bodies.

Crowds, in which women, many of them most fashionably dressed, predominated, attended the opening session of the Assembly at M. Procopio, in which the new Anti-War Treaty was lauded as an instrument of world peace.

The League Council president's speech was followed by organization routine in which Herluf Zahle, Danish Minister at Berlin, was elected president.

BRITISH LABOR DELEGATES MEET

Trades Union Congress Holds Its Annual Convention at Swansea, Wales

Swansea, Wales, Sept. 4.—"It is better to till our own land than to send our men as waifs and strays to the outposts of the Empire, where they must fight nature in its more brutal fashion," declared Ben Turner in his presidential address when the Trades Union Congress of Great Britain convened yesterday for its Diamond Jubilee meeting.

President Turner was advocating a "big slice of immediate land colonization in this country." He said he would not hesitate to take 200,000 acres of land now unused or unused and part of the colonies of the Empire. Personally he was attracted to that idea if it was accompanied by industry and group decentralization, he said.

Twenty-five fewer delegates were registered. A decrease in the affiliated membership can be attributed to the splitting up of the number of affiliated unions under the Trade Union Act and to decrease in membership of the Miners' Federation.

The principal work of this meeting will be to endorse a new labor policy known as "Mondism" from its author, Sir Alfred Mond, the new Lord Melchett. This is a policy of co-operation between capital and labor. The Congress last year approved the policy, but it has been strongly attacked by the left wing movement led by A. J. Cook, miners' leader, and James Marion, organizer in Scotland of the Independent Labor Party.

These two will launch a big attack against the policy on Thursday, but it is expected they will suffer a complete defeat and that the Congress will authorize the setting up of machinery to bring the policy into practice.

STOCK MARKETS — FINANCIAL NEWS — GRAIN MARKETS

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

WHITNEY LETTER

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)
New York, Sept. 4—Whitney of the Wall Street Financial Bureau says to-day:

"In spite of the fact that we have just completed a three-week straight-away advance which stands entirely without parallel in the history of American stock prices, the market for the week at least, in so far as the earlier portion of it is concerned is going higher."

"For the present continue to refrain from accepting even what appears to be attractive profits in the issues which are going higher and continue to purchase stocks which are about to engage in new issues."

"American and Foreign Power is at the beginning of an advance, in both market and corporate-wise which I believe will parallel that which we have witnessed in the last three weeks."

"The present continue to refrain from accepting even what appears to be attractive profits in the issues which are going higher and continue to purchase stocks which are about to engage in new issues."

"The market is buying more and more, but offerings from locals were sufficient to take care of the demand, and the market was able to show very little recuperation."

"At mid-session a little hedging pressure appeared which does very little to the market and prices fall again, continuing through the daily bids."

"The cash market was quiet with just a few minor trades passing. There was a little demand from shippers for No. 2 Northern, and this was half cent better, while all others were unchanged."

"Expert business over the weekend and holiday appears to be very small. The market is over the Canadian West, been very favorable the past three days with no rain at any points and temperatures generally higher."

"Harvesting is now in full swing, but very little threshing has been done so far. Some large yields are reported, the market is grading fairly high. Movement should be heavy in the next week or ten days, should weather remain favorable."

"Coarse grains: These markets all last ground under a light trade. Oats were very quiet, but they were very little for sale. There was no buying pressure in barley, but there was a fair demand for barley from different sources. Rye demand quiet and this market follows wheat. Oats closed 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 lower, barley 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 lower, and rye 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 lower."

"Flax: Dull and weaker, closing 2 cents to 1/2 lower."

"No feature to the market."

A Romance of the Royal Air Force

By ROLLO VILLIERS

CHAPTER XVI

Deane arrived in great haste at Orange Farm. He knocked at the door, and the maid came in answer.

"Miss Dubois in, please?" he asked.

"Yes, Mr. Deane," the maid replied. "But I'm sorry you will not be able to see her. She is indisposed, and has gone to bed."

"Good Lord!" groaned Deane to himself. "Well," in a more appropriate tone, "will you tell her that I called and should like to see her. Perhaps she will write to me and make an appointment."

Slowly, sadly, Deane turned back down the long drive to the road.

For the next thirty-six hours Deane lived in torment. No man who has ever lived through those moments when he realizes he has grossly wronged anybody and is not permitted to repair the damage, can imagine what he suffered.

Of course, Yvonne was finished with him, he decided. His hasty action, his uncharitable accusations which had been brutally delivered, had broken the heart of his little desert flower. The perfume that had spread itself in the air around her, her love, her whole life, must be crushed and lost.

God, how I have a fool had been. Ten, twenty—yes, fifty years he would give to wipe out one tear that she must have shed.

Monday morning came when Deane had arrived at the state of a man coming slowly out of an anaesthetic. His mind and brain were dulled and his heart was leaden.

"Letter for you, sergeant," announced the mess waiter as he came in to breakfast.

"Letter?" repeated Deane listlessly.

"Yes! What'll you have?"

"Where's the letter?" he asked.

The waiter looked at Deane and tapped his forehead with his finger.

"Loopy!" he whispered to his waiter companion.

Deane took the letter addressed to him from the rack and opened it automatically.

It was from Yvonne, of course. It would be to tell him that he had come and that his association must come to a finish. What was this?

"Deany, darling."

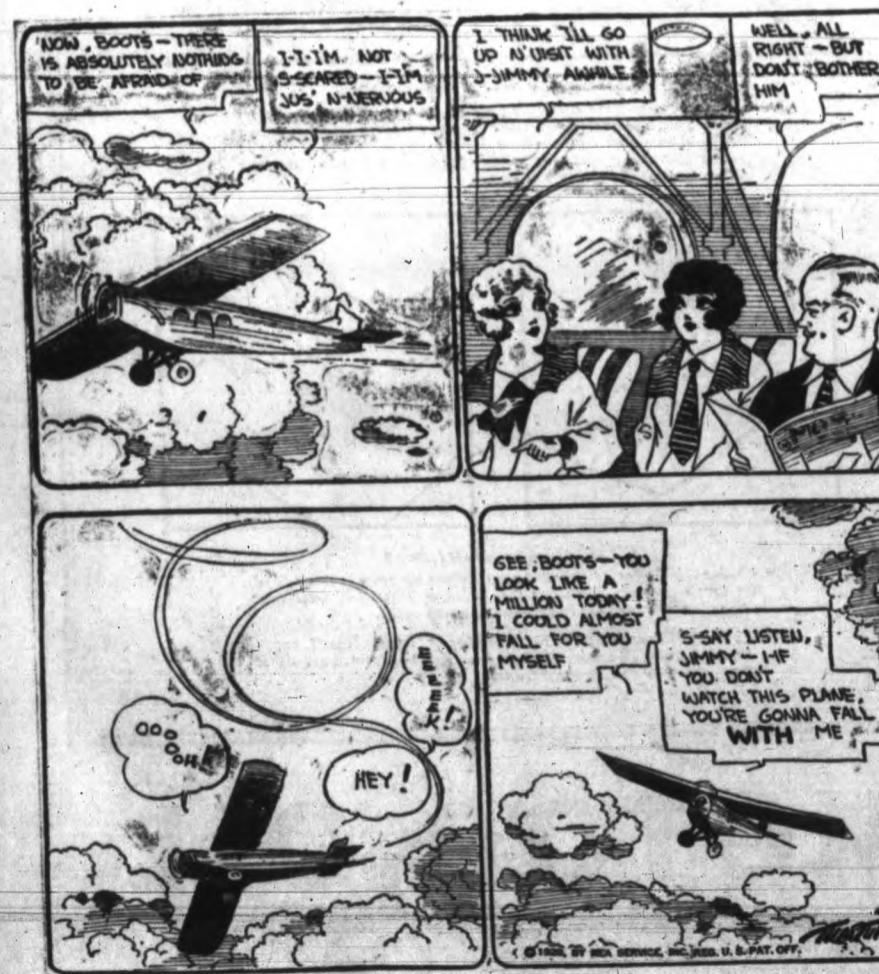

Deane laughed. She was actually addressing him as "darling." Then he read on further:

"I'm sorry I was too ill to see you on Saturday night. I'm much better now. Come along this evening and we will have a chat. I hope you are none the worse for your accident."

"Love, Your Yvonne."

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES—Homeward Bound

—By MARTIN

just before 2, and no soul entered the drawing office, I'll swear.

"That makes it all the more certain that the swine did go in before," Bridgeman stated with decision. "Whatever information he needed he copied, and then he altered those figures to try and get an angle to Deane, if they were not discovered."

"Well, we'll never know the truth," announced Richard.

"Why not?" the others asked, as in one eager voice.

"By accident or suicide he fell overboard on the Channel boat last night. Here is a copy of the morning paper, and putting two and two together, that's it. More or less, anyway, though he is not identified as yet," Richard informed them, handing out for their inspection a cutting from a newspaper.

For a second there was silence.

"Now I think we can close the inquiry," said Bridgeman, "and I trust you all to keep what has happened here a secret."

"How endorsed," agreed Deane, who had already risen and put on his cap. "Good day, gentlemen," he said as he unceremoniously quitted the room. "The next flight will be a success. In the meantime, I have other business."

Bridgeman looked at Richard, and there was a twinkle in both their eyes as they saw the departing figure of the young airman.

Once again as the soft shadows of evening were closing over the Downs, Deane found himself in the rear room that had a little window looking out over an old-world garden.

He had rushed to the house with ill-concealed impatience full with the words of sorrow and remorse for his judgment, burning with the fire of his love to pour out before Yvonne his whole soul.

When he entered the room his thoughts were arrested, words and phrases from his anguish seemed to stop and die upon his lips. All he muttered was:

"You're very tenderly."

The figure reclining on the settee turned a head in his direction.

"Come and sit down, Deany," her voice commanded caringly, while she extended a hand and raised it to his trembling lip.

"I'm awfully sorry, Eve, about this wretched business," he stammered. "I would have known you better. Forgive me!"

"Of course I forgive you," she smiled.

"Ah, that smile!" thought Deane.

As she had expected, she bent once again over the little flower of the desert, just closing her petals to the kiss of the twilight dew. Now the flower had opened, as to the touch of dawn.

"We won't say any more about it, boy. It's just as much my fault as yours for not telling you everything and trusting you instead of asking you to trust me," she continued.

Deane opened his mouth to interrupt her, but with a smile she laid her finger over his lips.

"We're going to talk of other things now," she told him.

"Eh?" exclaimed Deane.

Yvonne's little laugh rang out.

"Yes, you wonderful cavalier! Here I am in a position to be a little bit of a master of—well, instead of saying something appropriate, you make a noise like someone smacked on the back."

Her further speech was arrested for a long moment as Deane took her in his arms and covered her face with his trembling kiss.

When they came down at last from the clouds where lovers delight to wander, Deane was sitting by her side with his hand in hers, looking through the window, out over the gardens of hollow trees and masterpieces of the setting sun, just as they had sat that morning when she had claimed his protection.

"Deany boy?"

"Yes?" he questioned.

"I know what I'm going to wear for the great event?"

"No, tell me, Eve!"

"Well, I'm going to wear sky blue. That may be outrageous, but it matches my eyes, and it seems to fit in with you, old boy."

"Uncle Wiggily," murmured Deane, as he laughed softly. "Of course his whole life's ambition and his love were bound up in the blue of the heavens."

The sun faded out, and the shadows of night crept round to cloak the bower.

There was no blue in the sky—but the berry shortcake of it," said Nurse Jane, smiling and sarcastic. But Uncle Wiggily laughed.

"The fact of the matter is," went on Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, "that Baby Bunty is sick."

"No, I am going to make a strawberry shortcake of it," said Nurse Jane, smiling and sarcastic. But Uncle Wiggily laughed.

TIPS TO BUSY BOYS

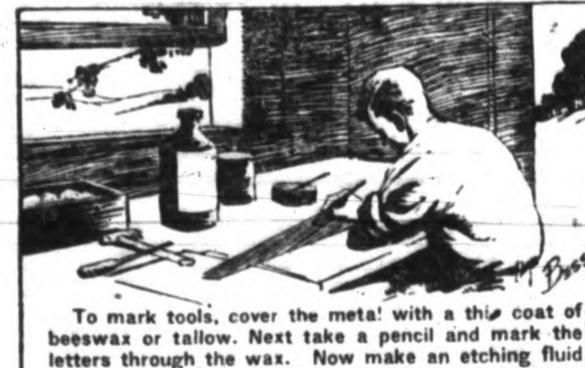

If young carpenters will take good care of their tools, work can be done more easily and quickly. To remove rust, first cover the tool with sweet oil, rub it well and allow to stand for a day. Cover with a second coat of oil applied freely with a piece of cloth. Rub with powdered unslaked lime. Repeat if the rust is not entirely removed.

By H.A. Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge. Copyright, 1923-26.

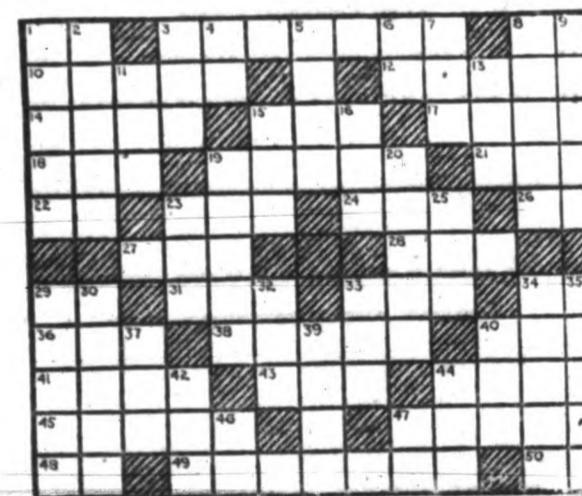

To prevent rust, clean the tools with a mixture of one-half ounce of camphor, a pound of melted lard and enough graphite to give it an iron color.

To mark tools, cover the metal with a thin coat of beeswax or tallow. Now make an etching fluid from equal parts of common salt, bluestone and water and fill the letters cut in the wax. The acid works quickly, and you may clean your tool and observe the results.

To-morrow's Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1928

Astrologers read this as rather an unfortunate day in planetary government, although benefic aspects are strong as evening falls.

The stars seem to forecast intrigue and dissipation, a disposition in business as well as politics to indulge in false representations.

Plots and counter plots are supposed to develop while this disfugur-ation prevails and newspaper sensations are indicated.

Both men and women are warned against an inclination to emphasize their individuality of themselves.

There may be unusual manifestations of egotism and conceit.

The direction of the stars bodes ill for domestic harmony and likely to encourage hasty decisions, any divorce suit may be filed while this rule prevails.

Persons whose birthday it is may have numerous unexpected messages in the coming year, which should be most prosperous. These subjects of Virgo are usually prosperous and they show their opulence in their dress.

Appears With Capitol
Artists In Big Bill"Forgotten Faces" Is the Stage Attraction With a Fine
Setting of Well-known Stars of the Silver Screen

The stage attractions at the Capitol Theatre for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week include: Indi Mitchell Butler, soprano soloist, late of Fanchon and Marco's "Broadway" innovation. Innovative star of Radio Stations KPI and KKN, in song selections. "Juana and Cortes," two very clever Adagio dancers, and Reid and Collins, a couple of de luxe artists in a special song and dance revue. Harold Bechtel, the singing M.C. and the concert orchestra under the direction of Al. Prentiss, will complete the bill of stage attractions which will appear twice daily, to-day and Wednesday.

With an all-star cast and one of the most thrilling stories ever brought to the motion picture screen, Paramount's "Forgotten Faces" is presented as a powerful magnet on the Victoria stage.

There is nothing mysterious about this picture's tremendous drawing power. It has all of the elements which attract and not the least of them is cast with Clive Brook, Mary Brian, Baciana, William Powell, Fred Kohler and Jack Ludden.

An elegant crook returns to his home and is maddened to murder by what he finds. Penitentiary walls close about him for life. Before he gives himself up to the law, however, he leads an infant daughter on the doorsteps of a wealthy couple.

By a clever use of dissolved time lapse of fifteen years is indicated without any slowing up in tempo. Then comes a desperate game with the happiness of the couple's daughter which is high praise for the photoplay.

There are some realistic penitentiary scenes, including an attempted prison break.

Rollicking Film Farce
Playing At Dominion
With Harrison Ford

"Just Married" Is Farce-comedy by Pen of Famous Author of "Abie's Irish Rose"

Harrison Ford, for years a film star, light and film favorite, has a prominent role in "Just Married," a film farce comedy adapted to the screen from the famous stage play written by Anne Nichols, famed author of "Abie's Irish Rose." The picture is now showing at the Dominion Theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. Ford has been in pictures for over ten years, having essayed to kind of role that is possible for an actor to do. For the most part, however, he has specialised in light comedy roles, and has many successes to his credit. It was for this reason that he was obtained from the "free lance" list to fill the important role of Jack Stanley in the initial co-starring picture of Ruth Taylor and Harrison Ford. Also in one of the supporting roles in "Just Married" is Ruth Taylor and James Hall have also been starred in "Just Married," as a reward for their work in recent months. The picture is now showing at the Dominion Theatre.

Ruth Taylor and James Hall have also been starred in "Just Married," as a reward for their work in recent months. The picture is now showing at the Dominion Theatre.

With this latest and introducing such interesting personalities, "The Flight Commander" will amply repay all who see the film. "The Flight Commander" is being shown at the Columbia Theatre to-day.

Famous British Aviator Has
Title Role in "Flight Commander"

With no less a distinguished person than Sir Alan Cobham, K.B.E., in the title role, the army of talented and popular screen stars who appear in "The Flight Commander" collectively, prove that the Empire has film artists as capable in every way as those from any other country.

Estelle Brody, the vivacious Canadian actress, who has endeared herself to Motherland cinema audiences; John Stuart, the young Scot, who appeared with Miss Brody in "Mademoiselle From Armentières"; "Hindle Wakes" and "Roses of Picardy," carry the dramatic burden of this vivid, exciting film with the enthusiastic assistance of genial Alf Goddard, Cyril McLaglen (husband of actress Constance Victor), William Purdie, who amazingly resembles Douglas Fairbanks, John Longden and Edward O'Neill.

Bronley Davenport also appears as a symbolic figure in the film, his make-up being a triumph of physical dexterity and correctness in every detail.

With this latest and introducing such interesting personalities, "The Flight Commander" will amply repay all who see the film. "The Flight Commander" is being shown at the Columbia Theatre to-day.

Sydney Chaplin
Has Laugh Hit
At Coliseum

"Skirts" Shows Adventures of Man on Vacation From Married Life

Every husband has a different way of enjoying life, when his wife leaves for a vacation, but the story of all ways to do life under such circumstances is illustrated in an up-to-date manner by Syd Chaplin in his newest comedy "Skirts," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film now at the Coliseum Theatre.

"Skirts" is just one long, loud laugh. The film starts with Chaplin attempting to get his wife and mother-in-law to pack for a vacation trip and ends with their return amid a hall-storm of flying fists. In the interim there are some wildly amusing comedy chases, a trick dog, a splendid cabaret scene, one of Syd Chaplin's famous female impersonations, and a host of other laughable matters. It is one of the most amusing comedies that has come to town in a dog's age. "Skirts" was filmed in London, the locale of the story, and the supporting cast is English. Betty Balfour, one of London's noted beauties, has the lead role, and she is not only beautiful but also a talented comedienne. Clifford McLaglen, brother of Victor McLaglen, has the heavy role and distinguishes himself in that capacity. Edmond Breon, a London stage actor of reputation, also has a part and is sure to add to the high standard set by the star of the picture. Others in the cast who show up to decided advantage are Nancy Riggs, Annie Edmund Diana Wilson and Enid Stamp Taylor, a London heiress who was once reported as being engaged to the Prince of Wales. Jess Robbins and Wheeler Dryden, who is also the scenarist responsible for the excellent continuity of "Skirts" directed the film in collaboration and added a further bit of evidence to the truism that two heads are better than one. The picture is compact, finished, fast of movement and a joy to the judge of quality in photoplays.

Film Comedy At Playhouse Opens
With Fine Cast

"Thirteen, Washington Square" Is Universal Picture Release

For real comedy there is no type of picture which gives greater appreciation from an audience than the so-called mystery story.

"13 Washington Square," the Universal picture which opened yesterday at the Playhouse Theatre is just such a picture. The theatre was repeatedly swept with gales of laughter.

The story starts with the introduction of a spine-tingling melodrama but on the screen it is the most delightful of comedies.

Every incident imperilling a player, every expression of fright, every scurrying shadow and eerie light, utterly broke down the spectator's reserve. A woman would shriek here and a man a hearty laugh there.

There was just as much pleasure in observing the nearby impressionable woman in watching the screen which is high praise for the photoplay.

Jean Hersholt gives a very fine performance as the picture thief, another on the historical detection of the first-rate character star, Alice Joyce is splendid in her role as the aristocratic mother, a part which might have been unsympathetic in less capable hands.

Zasu Pitts contributes a great deal of the humor of the picture as Miss Joyce's maid, while George Lewis and Helen Foster help out the love interest with a touch of charm.

Malvina Brown deserves credit for the direction, for such a picture relies greatly on the directional touches for its success.

One Yard of Pink Ribbon for "Monte" Scandalized
Property Man

Excitement prevailed in the wardrobe department of the First National Studio.

Usually nothing short of an earthquake creates a stir in this vast storehouse, where orders are received emotionally for anything from the correct spade for a Hurlingham polo match to a deep-sea diver's outfit.

But this was different. Costumes were being assembled for a wedding sequence in Colleen Moore's newest film, "Monte," which is now being shown at the Variety Theatre. After checking off the bridesmaids' frocks, the clergymen's vestments, and the correct attire for the ushers, the wardrobe manager came upon a requisition for: "Monte's wedding costume—one yard of four-inch pink ribbon."

"Who?" he asked. "It's Monte? And what business has he at a respectable wedding in a yard of ribbon? What kind of a picture is this, anyway?"

Investigation disclosed that Monte was an Irish terrier, which appears prominently in "Happiness Ahead" as Colleen Moore's pet. Miss Moore and her director, William A. Seiter, agreed that Monte should attend the wedding in a pink bow. Monte did.
